grand winner of the 2014 nautilus book awards thoughtful observers agree that the planetary crisis we now face climate change species extinction the destruction of entire ecosystems the urgent need for a more just economic political order is pushing human civilization to a radical turning point change or perish but precisely how to change remains an open question in earth honoring faith larry rasmussen answers that question with a dramatically new way of thinking about human society ethics and the ongoing health of our planet rejecting the modern assumption that morality applies to human society alone rasmussen insists that we must derive a spiritual and ecological ethic that accounts for the well being of all creation as well as the primal elements upon which it depends earth air fire water and sunlight he argues that good science necessary as it is will not be enough to inspire fundamental change we must draw on religious resources as well to make the difficult transition from an industrial technological age obsessed with consumption to an ecological age that restores wise stewardship of all life earth honoring faith advocates an alliance of spirituality and ecology in which the material requirements for planetary life are reconciled with deep traditions of spirituality across religions traditions that include mysticism sacramentalism prophetic practices asceticism and the cultivation of wisdom it is these shared spiritual practices that can produce a chorus of world faiths to counter the consumerism utilitarianism alienation oppression and folly that have pushed us to the brink written with passionate commitment and deep insight earth honoring faith reminds us that we must live in the present with the knowledge that the eyes of future generations will look back at us the call to care for creation is a central part of our discipleship as followers of jesus christ however language and imagery of the earth is often absent in our worship services this book helps reconnect our commitment to creation care with our life of discipleship the process includes helping congregational members name ways that they are involved in caring for creation and encouraging them to see ways that these practices are related to christian faith and in doing so nurturing the life of our communities while fostering our identity as those who care for the earth central to the process of reconnecting holy discipleship with earth stewardship is the development and rediscovery of biblical imagery and language that will support our care of creation and shape our prayers as our actions are more closely connected to the language of our prayers praying and acting will inform and enrich each other this book also includes custom liturgies that highlight earth care prayerfully prepared for the major festivals of the church year
