at the request of friends i have prepared this short text book outlining the method of carrying forward the course and emphasizing the principles necessary for the intelligent communication of ideas it has not been the purpose to write a rhetoric the many fine distinctions and divisions the rarefied examples of very beautiful forms of language which a young pupil cannot possibly reproduce or even appreciate have been omitted to teach the methods of simple direct and accurate expression has been the purpose and this is all that can be expected of a high school course in english the teaching of composition differs from the teaching of latin or mathematics in this point whereas pupils can be compelled to solve a definite number of problems or to read a given number of lines it is not possible to compel expression of the full thought the full thought is made of an intellectual and an emotional element whatever is intellectual may be compelled page iv by dint of sheer purpose whatever is emotional must spring undriven by outside authority and un-compelled by inside determination a boy saws a cord of wood because he has been commanded by his father but he cannot laugh or cry because directed to do so by the same authority there must be the conditions which call forth smiles or tears so there must be the conditions which call forth the full expression of thought both what is intellectual and what is emotional this means that the subject shall be one of which the writer knows something and in which he is interested that the demands in the composition shall not be made a discouragement and that the teacher shall be competent and enthusiastic inspiring in each pupil a desire to say truly and adequately the best he thinks and feels this book was originally published prior to 1923 and represents a reproduction of an important historical work maintaining the same format as the original work while some publishers have opted to apply ocr optical character recognition technology to the process we believe this leads to sub optimal results frequent typographical errors strange characters and confusing formatting and does not adequately preserve the historical character of the original artifact we believe this work is culturally important in its original archival form while we strive to adequately clean and digitally enhance the original work there are occasionally instances where imperfections such as blurred or missing pages poor pictures or errant marks may have been introduced due to either the quality of the original work or the scanning process itself
